

CHWs in Practice: Learnings from a CHW Service Provider

Thursday, May 28, 2026
Time: 12:00-1:00 p.m.

Topic:

Community Health Workers strengthen public health and care teams by serving as trusted links between members, communities, and health systems. Through culturally responsive support, CHWs help address social drivers of health, improve engagement, and enhance care coordination—complementing the work of nurses, care coordinators, doulas, and other professionals.

Presenter(s):

Evan Curtin is the Executive Director of WellShare International, having previously served as the director of WellShare's Community Health Worker Hub in Mankato, assisting refugee and immigrant communities with medical and social navigation and community-based programs. Evan has a professional background in international development, nonprofit startups, and leading nonprofit emergency response organizations.

Who should participate/Audience:

Health care providers, nurses, doulas, public health, health educators, social workers, therapists, community health workers, and anyone who interacts with individuals from other cultures.

Objectives:

- Understand the CHW scope of practice and core functions
- Recognize how CHWs support Maternal and Child Health as well as coexisting diabetes and depression
- Distinguish the CHW role within interdisciplinary care teams
